Hospital Faces Possible Transfer of Authority

Several meetings preceded Monday evening's Sierra Madre Community Hospital Executive Board meeting where a decision was made to resume negotiations with Arcadia Methodist Hospital with the possibility of that entity taking the place now held by Foothill Medical Centers, Inc. of Glendora, the umbrella controlling both the Sierra Madre hospital and Foothill Presbyterian Hospital.

The board principals also voted unanimously to withdraw an earlier recommendation that the Sierra Madre Community Hospital board enter into a contract giving Foothill Medical Centers, Inc. complete control, according to John Hahn, spokesman for the board.

The third decision covered Monday evening was that of continuing to retain Gary Kearney of Sierra Madre as the negotiator in matters with the Glendora group.

These three decisions have had a calming effect on the local board that has been in upheaval for a week.

"Matters will go forward with all deliberate speed," Hahn told the News Tuesday afternoon. And at Wednesday's meeting the board was expected to elect new officers, to be announced in next week's edition of the News.

The hospital's future was a bit shaky following the Feb. 28 Foundation Executive Board meeting after an earlier announcement by Foothill Medical Centers, Inc. that they requested the Sierra Madre board enter into a contract giving them control of the hospital.

Is has been no secret that the hospital has been losing a great deal of money even after Foothill (FMCI) took the reins, loaning the local hospital $100,000 and agreeing to assist with administration.

A special meeting was called a week ago, Mar. 2, by Douglas Berkshire, president of the local foundation at that time. Berkshire explained the order of business was to consider the resolution handed down by FMCI, . . . "immediately proceed with a management contract . . . will assume full and absolute control of the institution."

Before a vote was taken, correspondence from Arcadia Methodist Hospital president and administrator, Richard A. Hachten II, dating as far back as October and as recent as Mar. 1, indicating continued active interest in working with the local hospital, was passed around. Some of the correspondence had not been seen by all board members.

George Liskow asked that Arcadia Methodist be invited to attend a Sierra Madre board meeting vis-a-vis a possible affiliation.

However, the resolution concerning the possible control of FMCI was the business at hand. A vote was taken and those in favor of the Foothill resolution included Janet Wood, Douglas Berkshire, Gary Kearney, Dr. Morrison and Dr. Waken.

Those opposed were Hahn, Liskow, Phyllis Chapman, Roy Buchan and Wallace "Bud" Murray.

Berkshire annouced his resignation from the board; however, it was not accepted by the members.

On Saturday morning three Arcadia Hospital representatives, President and Administrator Hachten, Myron E. Smith, chairman of the board of directors, and Elizabeth O. Evans, board member, met with Hahn, Buchan, Chapman and Liskow. Again they explained it was the Arcadia Hospital's intention to repay the loans (from FMCI to Sierra Madre) and reimburse the organization for expenses.

Although Kearney had decided to resign, also, according to a conversation Hahn had with Berkshire, Kearney rescinded that decision and is continuing as negotiator.

Now, a week later, the chances of an amicable and comfortable arrangement for all seem favorable.

Anecdotes Spark Queen's Visit

Bits and pieces of interesting trivia have emerged since the visit to the British Home in Sierra Madre by the British Monarch, Queen Elizabeth II, last Monday.

Sheila Schnegg, M.B.E. and president of the British Home, explained the real significance of "Her Majesty's Standard" which was raised on the flagpole last last Monday as the limousine carrying the British Monarch entered the grounds.

William Foran of Alhambra was the person given the honor of raising the standard. "Besides being a veteran of the North African and Italian campaigns of WWII, Mr. Foran also served in Her Majesty's Personal Regiment, the Queens Bays, 2nd Dragoon Guards, whose colonel is personally accountable to the Queen," Schnegg said.

The standard has never flown on United States soil before its appearance in Sierra Madre last week. It was sent directly from Buckingham Palace and was flown in residence in spite of the rain as long as the Queen was in Sierra Madre. As she left, the standard was wheeled down, folded and immediately sent to the British Consulate, then on to Buckingham Palace once more.

The standard flies over Buckingham Palace when the Queen is in residence, Schnegg said. "That's how we know when she's home. If the standard is down, she is not there."

"My knees were knocking when the Queen approached me," Shirley Wilson told the News. "One of the Secret Service men knew I was scared and he told me to think of a peaceful time I'd had. I remembered being on the beach with my children years ago and it helped," Wilson remembers. "The Secret Service men were so nice and obliging."

The News understands that one of the Secret Service men is now dating the daughter of one of the British Home principals.

Marie Brown, administrator at the home, said, "I never thought it would happen to little old me. Meeting the Queen is a once-in-a-lifetime thing for me."

Schnegg smiled, "I was just getting into the spirit of it. I don't know what I'm going to do with myself now."

Council Takes After Barricade

"An eye-sore and an insult to our community," was how Charles Corp, a member of the Sierra Madre City Council, described the city of Arcadia's attempt to block automobile passage into that city from the intersection of the Sierra Madre streets of Orange Grove and Mountain Trail (which is named San Carlos in Arcadia.)

Corp's comments were made following the presentation of Lee Neuman, a Sierra Madre resident, who informed the councilmembers of his recent Municipal Court victory over the city of Arcadia which had cited him for entering that city on "San Carlos" from Orange Grove.

In an attempt to block auto traffic from proceeding south on San Carlos from Orange Grove, Arcadia authorities erected a cement "island" in the middle of San Carlos at Orange Grove and had designated San Carlos as a one-way street heading north at that point. Neuman presented council members with copies of the court order finding him innocent of the Arcadia traffic charge, then he asked the Sierra Madre Council to bring the court decision to the attention of the Arcadia City Council hoping Arcadia might reverse its position on that traffic item.

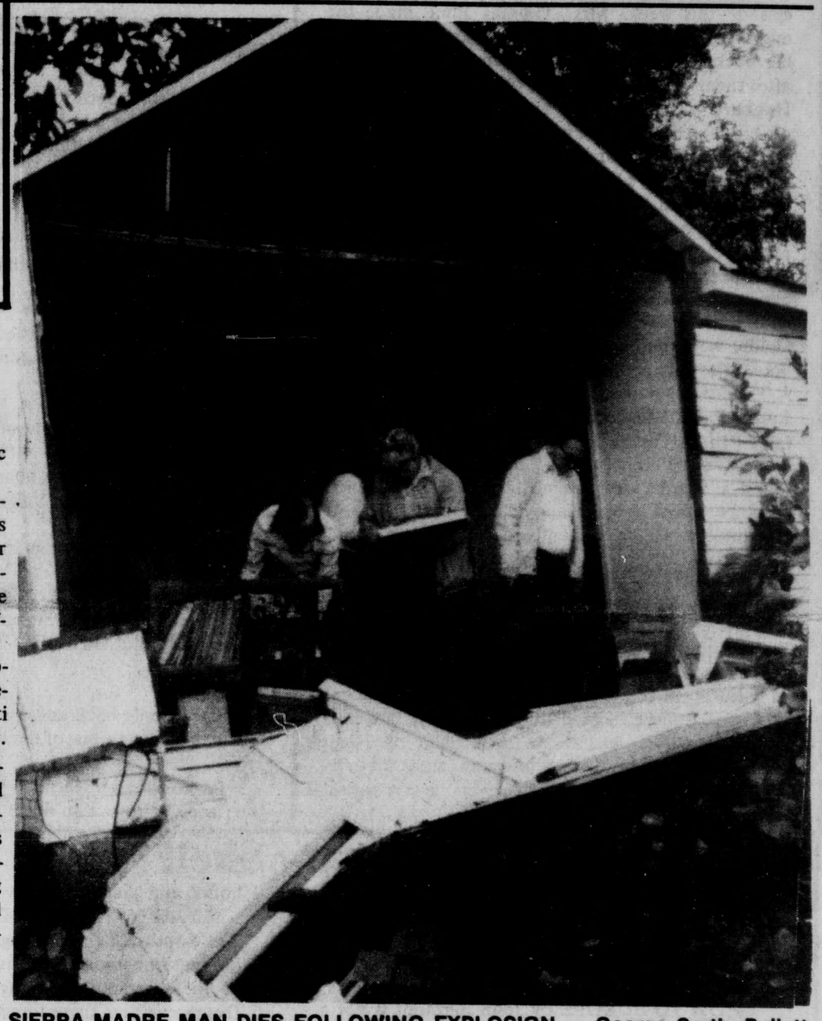

The Sierra Madre governing body appeared to express unanimous agreement for further discussions with Arcadia authorities to restore San Carlos to two-way traffic.

Laurie Cooper was appointed to Parks and Recreation Dept. to replace Patti Huber who resigned recently.

Mayor Pro Tem Clem Bartolai supported his proposed amendments to the city ordinance dealing with appeals by councilmembers from actions of the city's Planning Commission. He declared that not one council member had disclosed reasons for, or persons contacted, in connection with a council member's appeal of a Planning Commission action in the more than three years he has served on the council.

This allegation brought immediate denials from the other councilmembers.

SIERRA MADRE MAN DIES FOLLOWING EXPLOSION — George Curtis Pollett, 44, died enroute to L.A. County Hospital Mar. 7 in the early morning hours following a suicide attempt in which he told authorities he had swallowed "several hundred" 5-grain aspirins, then turned on stove gas, according to Police Chief Bill Betts. An unknown source of ignition neatly blew one wall out of his home on W. Laurel burning him fatally. Here investigators and family members peruse the contents while the home looks as if a saw had carefully removed one wall.

Free Cheese, Butter Program Very Successful

Six hundred Sierra Madreans and 200 people from out-of-town enjoyed the free cheese and butter given out as part of the food subsidy program Friday, according to Joe Delgatto Sr., coordinator of the program.

Besides those amounts, Delgatto said, 10 cases each of the butter and cheese were presented to Victory Park Senior Citizen Center from the amounts in Sierra Madre.

As the only city with an excess, Sierra Madre will return 20 cases each of the subsidies to the central office in Altadena.

Volunteers assisting with the program held at the Senior Citizen Center in Memorial Park were members of Civic Club, Senior Citizens Club and youth from Alverno High School. Members of the Sierra Madre city crew also assisted Delgatto in picking up the products from Altadena early Friday.

Delgatto reported another food subsidy program in two months when there will be dried milk, powdered instant potatoes, beans and cheese available.

FREE CHEESE, BUTTER HANDED OUT TO 600 PERSONS — Sierra Madreans lined up by the droves to pick up their free butter and cheese Friday. The city had plenty of the free subsidy for the deserving, and even distributed cheese and butter to 200 outsiders.

● During the Queen's visit to Sierra Madre, one union jack fluttered for a few moments while there was a brief respite from the cloudbursts that greeted the British Monarch. Kay Ritter, our neighbor, whceled up the red, white and blue British flag between rain showers.

● The old excuse of running out of gas was used over the weekend by my husband---after 30 years of marriage. We decided to take Henrietta, Don's 1920 Ford, out for a brief spin but we ran out of gas. Who had to hike up the hill, get another car and fetch gas while Don chewed the fat with neighbors down the hill? I did. One good thing came of the experience: we got to know more Sierra Madreans during our plight. One of them remembers putting together a whole 1920 Ford like Don's when he was a youth out of parts scrounged and purchased.

● Charlie Peterson is still in intensive care in Arcadia Methodist Hospital. And he still needs your prayers and cards.

● Anyone want a copy of the Sierra Madre School Song, arrangement and lyrics by Yerda Adams? We at the News have an original copy from which anyone can make more copies. How can all of you graduates be without your old school song?

● Loren Metzger called to tell us that within a two-day period---last Tuesday and Wednesday, Mar. 1 and 2---Sierra Madre received 11¼ inches of rain, with Tuesday being the most with 6.49 inches. On Wednesday, another 4.76 inches fell.

There were eight days of rain in a row for a weighty total of 14.95 inches of rain. In Hawaii we called it either Manoa mist or pineapple juice. Whatever we call it, it was wet.

● Both Helen Walker and Midge Morash spotted the same sign on a pole in Sierra Madre: "One half Siamese cat lost." And both asked the same question: "I keep wondering what on earth has happened to the other half."

● Former Sierra Madrean Bee Maricle's husband, Harold Olson, died in January in the town where they were living, Forest City, Ia. Bee arrived Wednesday to visit Marie Brown for a month.

● With fundraising for a new 1983 ambulance launched this week, we have a bit of trivia to share with you:

— Sierra Madre gets emergency medical attention for 24 hours every day, seven days a week.

— All services are offered at no cost to the user or to the citizens of Sierra Madre. How many cities can say this?

— Approximately 600 emergency calls per year are answered by our local EMTs and about 500 of these were transported to one of six nearby hospitals.

If every family in Sierra Madre were to give only $2.29, the goal of $11,000 still needed to purchase the new ambulance would be reached. Let's take out

Caution: tampered containers?

Following the recent scares concerning drugs that have been tampered with, several precautionary guidelines have been developed for making sure that over-the-coutner drugs are safe. Here are a few of them and you might clip this column for future use.

- On cartons, look for unbroken end flaps.
- On bottles, look for a secure plastic barrier or sleeve around the top of the cap.
- Bottles may also have an inner seal that should be unbroken.
- The foil backing on blister packs, containing tablets, should be secure.
- If a product has a plastic shrink wrap completely covering it, be sure it is intact.
- Be sure the exterior of the package is intact.
- In the case of tablets or capsules, be suspicious of unusual particles or discolored powder.
- If bottles contain cotton under the cap, it should be smooth and tight.
- Be wary of any unusual odor.

Notes from the Attic

— Mar. 10, 1933: The mysterious Mr. Mud, giant St. Bernard dog, fared well in another dramatic episode this week. Mrs. Thomas Bluie made the mistake of leaving a couple of plucked chickens on her back porch Saturday night and when she went after them, she found her cupboard bare as Mother Hubbard's. In the backyard, contentedly resting on his large haunches, was Mud, lazily blowing a feather off the tip of his snozzle. . .Acting on the supposition that some people would be unable to attend the Red Cross benefit minstrel show tonight because of a lack of ready cash, the producers have arranged that individuals' admission may be secured by a person's bringing at least 30¢ worth of nonperishable foodstuff in lieu of money.

— Mar. 13, 1958: Mrs. E. R. Mitchell and Wanda Goldie were appointed to make a survey of comic book sales here. . .Mildred Cook Solury is on Cloud 9. Two of her poems appeared in this issue of California Parent Teacher and another will be in this fall's "Ideals" magazine. . .The Harold Brett family looked out of their patio window at 9:30 a.m. and found a 5-antler deer eyeing them. . .Lost: punch bowl borrowed from Happy's, also Edie Dane's grandmother's ladle is still missing. Borrowers, mend your ways.

— Mar. 8, 1973: The Sierra Madre Parks and Recreation Dept. announced last week the formation of the new community orchestra named the "Foothill Philharmonic." The purpose is not to encourage musicians to perform but to offer a quality form of cultural enrichment. . .Patrick Campbell, student at Citrus College, scored third highest of 300 in a Naval electronics exam. He is the son of Hugh Campbell. . .To head off a dilemma, since the telephone area is running out of prefixes, everyone will dial "1" before the area code.

PERRET-SCOPE

Last week, we had floods, earthquakes, and tornadoes all in the same day. It was just a coincidence that it happened to be the date of the annual Atheist's Picnic.

* * *

Floods, earthquakes, and tornadoes. I think God is trying our for the USFL. He's trying to prove He's a triple-threat man.

* * *

It was a bad day in Los Angeles. In one day we had floods, earthquakes, and tornadoes. And on top of that, my evening paper wasn't delivered.

* * *

We had three disasters in one day. That's the last time we'll refuse Billy Graham a starting time at the L.A. Country Club.

* * *

The Queen was visiting our city when it happened. She said, "I've come to see your city. Hold it still so I can get a look at it."

* * *

The Queen didn't appreciate it. She wants to have Dr. George Fishbeck beheaded.

* * *

Those tornadoes tore roofs off of houses, ripped out sides of buildings and just left devastation everywhere. The whole neighborhood looked like Phyllis Diller's living room.

* * *

My house wasn't hurt by the tornado. It floated away just in time.

* * *

This is all because of that picture "Tootsie." It's not nice to fool Mother Nature.

* * *

The animals always know when something is wrong. the other day 40 pairs of animals were trying to get on the Queen's Yacht.

* * *

I know. My date and I were third in line.

* * *

It seems like God has abandoned Los Angeles ever since He found out Fernando Valenzuela makes more than Him.

* * *

One good thing about it. It takes your mind off the smog.

* * *

It scared everyone. Sinners turned to God, drunks gave up alcohol, and on Sunset Strip guys were making out with girls.

* * *

The people back east love it. They want to see Sunny California become one of the Hawaiian Islands.

* * *

Of course, we're still better off than they are with all their snowstorms. You don't have to shovel an earthquake.

Sierra Madre Police Chief Bill Betts reports heavy losses due to burglaries the last 2 - 3 weeks with the average daily loss of over $1000. "We know by the modus operandi of two burglary operations in Sierra Madre and one burglar has been arrested by joint venture with Arcadia Police. We have been patroling with unmarked vehicles this week, attempting to locate witnesses and evidence to catch the burglars. We are disappointed that we have received not one call from the community concerning suspicious vehicles. The community is not responding."

Resident Enjoyed Story About Queen

(The News received many favorable responses from last week's piece about the trials leading up to and during the visit of the Queen of England in Sierra Madre. Ed.)

Your story covering the Queen's Visit to Sierra Madre was delightful. It was written in such a way that I was feeling all the same emotions---frustration, confidence, intimidation, etc. We are so fortunate to have such a talented, hard-working, and truly wonderful lady as the editor of our newspaper. I hope you know how much we appreciate you.

Questions Rules of Huck Finn Day

(The following letter was sent to Jennie Jacobsen-Huse, city director of recreation, with a copy coming to the Sierra Madre News. Ed.)

Each year, the children of Sierra Madre eagerly look forward to Huck Finn Day. We as parents have enjoyed and supported it with our children. One rule, however, bothers us deeply: the children under 5 years are eligible to fish but not to participate in the trophy program. Children under 5 years are just as likely to catch a large fish as those over 5 years. It has been our experience that a number of under-5 children with the guidance of their parents lie about their ages in order to win a trophy.

It saddens and angers us that this event, which provides the opportunity to develop a deep sense of sportsmanship, has been spoiled for many by a rule which in effect encourages cheating. This certainly is not fair to those under-5's and their parents who may catch large fish but are honest.

We strongly believe that the child, regardless of age, who catches the largest fish should get the trophy. In our observations, the 5- and 6-year-olds receive as much parental assistance as the 3- and 4-year-olds.

We hope you will seriously consider our comments and adjust the rules accordingly.

Unhappy Over Money Wasted on Research

With so much attention being focused on taxes and government spending, and an administration committed to making drastic cuts in the federal budget, I believe it is time to seek significant reductions in the billions of tax dollars spent annually on medical research involving live animals.

I've been working closely with humane organizations, all of which are concerned over the waste and duplication of experiments on animals. It's possible that biomedical research, like so many other federally funded programs, is a self-perpetuating bureaucracy. I question these huge expenditures both as an animal rights advocate and as a taxpayer.

Then she was serious, "You know that there were machine guns all around the British Home. The Secret Service came in with their dogs and searched the grounds before the Queen arrived, looking under the piano, even under area rugs. Then they sealed the entire grounds. They were absolutely thorough. To see these tall men at attention really makes you feel safe. At each entry of the British Home they were stationed with heavy arms. There was the Secret Service crew and the White House aides. Just as the Queen was driving up the helicopter circling above contained the Duke (Prince Philip, the Queen's husband)."

What was Schnegg's first impression of the Queen? "How very regal and pleasant and certainly beautiful she was. I presented her with a small nosegay of English flowers and she made us all feel comfortable and at ease. As we walked around the grounds she showed a genuine interest in everyone here and in everything we do."

Schnegg's job was not an easy one. She introduced at least 50 individuals to the Queen, attempting to remember not only everyone's name but her job or what the residents enjoyed doing. "They say it takes the very highest to be able to communicate with everyone, and that's the way the Queen was," Schnegg remembers.

Although the presentation was very impressive, Schnegg said almost everything was donated---carpeting, new flags, food, flowers.

"I would like to say the people of Sierra Madre were very helpful. Even the volunteer firemen were here pumping out to keep the tent clean and the carpet dry."

Schnegg was presented to the Queen in 1979 and is now a Member of the British Empire (M.B.E.).

GABARDINE'S PITFALLS

By Joe Delgatto

Ordinarily, most fabrics used for suiting and similar purposes are dyed before weaving. Gabardines, however, are dyed as one piece after the cloth has been woven. The particular shade or color achieved is the result of the simultaneous application of two or three dyes together. Since often times one of these dyes will be more fugitive than its companions, cleaning may cause loss of color or "bleeding."

The situation is further complicated by the fact that gabardine may be made from wool, cotton, rayon or a mixture of fibers.

Let us give you some hints on how to keep them looking their best.

1. Never try to remove spots on gabardines at home with anything under any circumatances whatever, This may liberate dyes.
2. Be especially careful to avoid staining with acid or alcoholic beverages — fruit juices, etc.
3. Clean often. Never use soap and water on the fabric.

And reconcile yourself to an eventual shine on the surfaces exposed to too much rubbing. Meantime, whenever the fabric or the garment, you'll always get the best cleaning job possible when you

District Receives $10,000 From Arcadia Foundation

The Arcadia Auditorium Foundation Board of Trustees has awarded a $10,000 grant to the Arcadia Unified School District to support the performing arts programs.

In August, 1982, Auditorium Trustees Charles Gilb, Gloria Horstman and Joe Sargis voted unanimously to consider specific requests from the Arcadia public schools for financial grants "to promote the undertaking of and appreciation for the performing arts." Such financial grants will come from accrued interest on the funds of the Arcadia Auditorium Foundation.

Funds for rental and transportation for auditorium experiences total $500, professional performances for elementary and junior high students total $1200, drama and auditorium account for $3800.

GILB HEADS FOUNDATIONS — Charles Gilb, former mayor and city councilman of Arcadia, is president of the Arcadia Auditorium Foundation who gave $10,000 grant to the Arcadia Unified School District, and president of the Arcadia Educational Foundation, donors of a $50,000 grant for the district. Awards were made recently at Board of Education meetings.

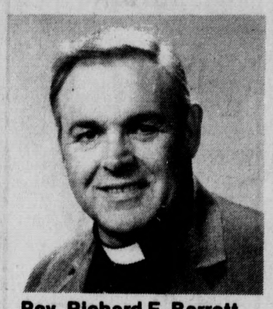

California Medical Association Auxiliary will install Mrs. Donald B. Hull as 2nd vice-president at its annual convention this week at the Los Angeles Bonaventure Hotel. Mrs. Philip Y. Attalla is Public Information Chairman for the event. Other Arcadians attending are Mrs. Robert Deliman and Mrs. Edward Thistlewaite.

Arcadia Historical Society will hear Edwin Carpenter, Lecturer for the Huntington Library, speak on Mar. 11, 7 p.m. at Hinshaw's Auditorium. His topic will be "Behind the Scenes at the Huntington."

'Priest in Residence' At Transfiguration

The Rev. Richard E. Barrett, priest, musician, singer and composer is traveling from Burnt Hills, N.Y. to Arcadia to take leadership in the Lenten plans at the Episcopal Church of the Transfiguration, Mar. 6 through Sunday, Mar. 15.

Realtor President To Speak March 16

A. Gordon Nicolson, president of the California Association of Realtors, will address real estate and its relation to the California economy at 8:30 a.m. on Mar. 16, during a regional meeting of realtors to be held at the May Company in Arcadia.

Nicolson speaks of the need for improvement in the real estate industry as the first step toward economic stability in California. With current interest rates somewhat below the record-high interest rates experienced at the beginning of 1982, realtors are looking for a 25% increase in California home resale activitiy during 1983.

The Arcadia Board of Realtors is acting as the host Board for the regional meeting, which has been arranged for realtors and realtor-associate of C.A.R. District 16. Other Boards of this District are: Monrovia-Duarte, Pasadena, San Marino, South Pasadena, and the West San Gabriel Valley. Regional Vice President for District 16 is Rose Woodall.

Four File for School Board

The four candidates who have filed for election to three vacant positions on the Arcadia Board of Education include G. Michael Allison, James A. Bryant, Robert E. Kladifko and Marilyn Perkins.

Allison is manager of the Arcadia May Co., Bryant is an engineer with JPL, Kladifko is a Los Angeles junior high school principal and Perkins is an El Monte elementary school teacher.

First public forum for the candidates will be the general membership breakfast of the Arcadia Chamber of Commerce to be held Mar. 25, 7:30 a.m. at the May Co.

ARCADIAN HEADS HOSPITAL STAFF — Arcadian Gary Moscarello, M.D. is the newly-elected Chief of the Medical Staff at Santa Teresita Hospital. An orthopedic surgeon, Dr. Moscarello also teaches at the L.A. County Medical Center.

B and B Owners Hail from Arcadia

Arcadia High School graduate from 1980 Neile Allen Ifland is co-owner of a bed and breakfast inn in Santa Barbara called Red Rose Inn. Her husband, Rick, is a senior in business at Westmont College and a 1500-meter runner. They have a 19th century Victorian house which the Santa Barbara Historical Society has termed a "survivor," and use that as their activities center.

From Behind the Wire

By Ed Colucci

Has the Phoenix risen, has the smoke of the last flair blown away, has the rain came to save us after the drought? You can bet your bippy. The Marshall Eagles have gone into the record books as C.I.F. champs for the first time in many years and it was the ladies that did it.

Coach Pul Bodensot did a great job with his girls team who had lost only three games on the year and ran over most of his opponents with some ease. Those outstanding players for the Eagles, Ballister, Nelson, Taulton, Masterson, Briseno, were in the double figures and near to them. When I spoke with the girls during the game we did for Group W Cable it was easy to see they loved the game and would be in the run for the championship and so they did it. All hail to the champs.

The U.S.F.L. is off the ground and it was fun to watch the game last Sunday. Although it was on par with a good college game it could get better as the season goes on. I think that Tom Ramsey will be the starter for the Express in games to come and the way he skoots around will be the big factor. Express 20 and the General 15.

Why is it that whenever you go somewhere you run into someone you knew down the road? Well it happened to me again last Saturday at the wedding we went to.

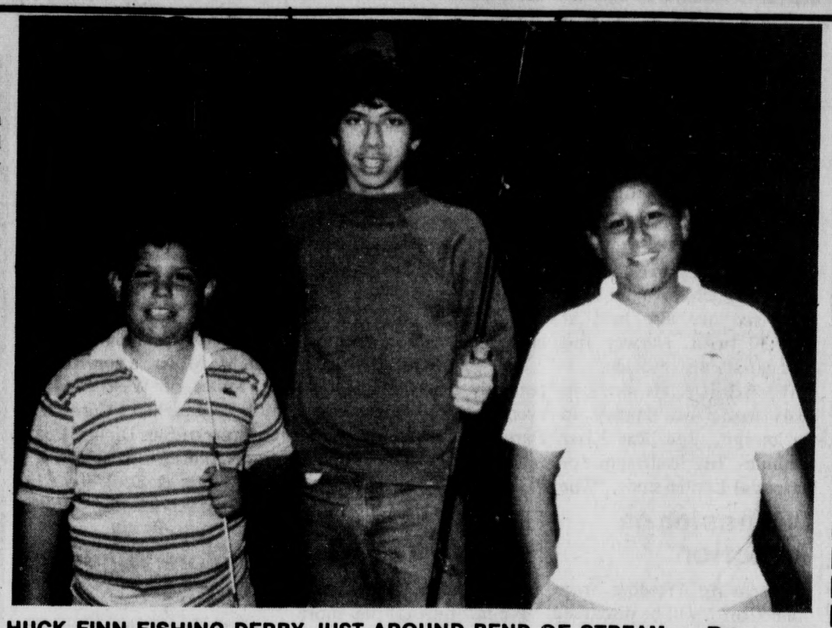

From the look of his face he played football before the face mask was popular and his nose was in need of a good plastic surgeon. I felt that at some time we met head on and I was right because he went to Muir J.C. and I went to PJC back in the '40s. Why do scrimmage games always seem to gain more importance when you're in your 50s?

O.K., sports fans one more time, try outs for G.S.B. will be held on Mar. 12. Work party on the 19th and opening day for L.L. on the 26th.

Don't forget the big chili cookoff and the dance the same day. I still didn't get my invite to the cook-off.

See you on the street
